SIR GEORGE WILLIAMS COLLEGE

1952

DEDICATION

DEAN

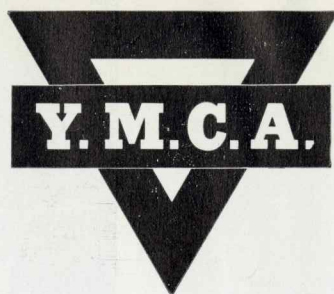

These are difficult days for the Canadian College. To survive, it will need intelligent and capable leadership.

Meeting this challenge for survival, Dean Henry F. Hall has displayed keen insight and understanding. His noble efforts to keep the College intact through the periods of crisis, and at the same time further Sir George Willam's development of "quality" education to enable its graduates to better meet the requirements of employment and society and further education — has gained the admiration and loyalty of the students.

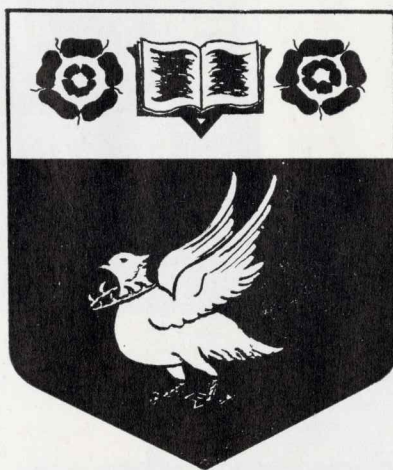

With gratitude for his achievements and for twenty five years service to the College CORRIDORS dedicates its 1952 issue to the Dean of Sir George Williams College, Dean Henry F. Hall.

PHOTO STORY OF OUR ALMA MATER

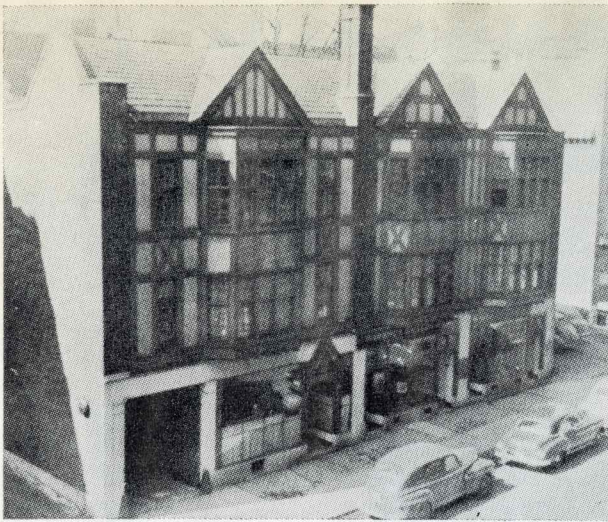

Out of the parent . . .

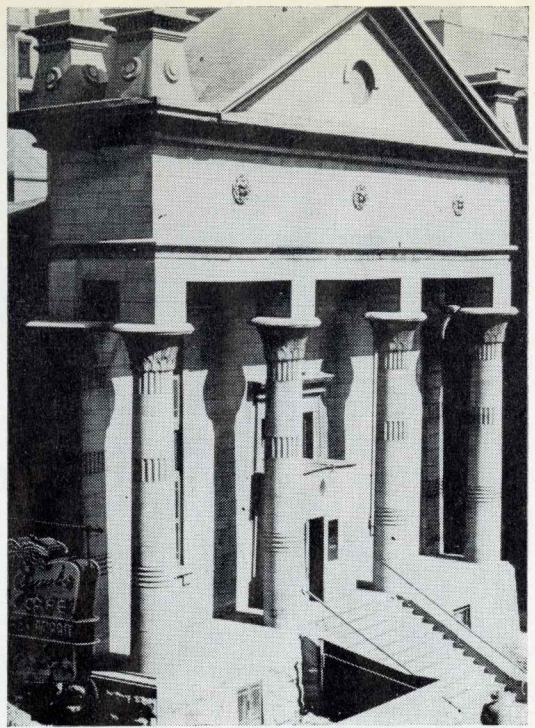

. . . came the offspring.

As it nurtured itself . . .

... it burst forth from its integument.

Gathering its strength ...

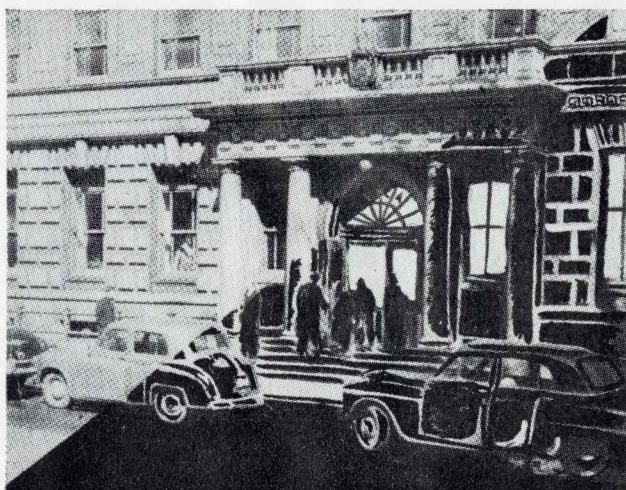

... it reached out and took root.

Here it flourishes ...

... straddling space ...

*... and the many-tongued, multi-hued
span of humanity.*

*Here are no solemn spires,
no broad and coldly-smiling acres,
no colonnaded, solid-marble mammoths.
Here is a living, pulsing organism.
Through its heart courses its eager, learning lifeblood — its striving, searching throng endlessly flowing through its vascular system — along its narrow, garrulous, milling, clamourous

FRESHMEN RECEPTION

On October 1st, the halls of Sir George were infiltrated with a new and strange group of people known as the Frosh. Among the usual faces that returned, were seen maroon and gold hats signifying these people that were to become celebrated Georgians of the lowest sect for the first time. That Monday, the Freshman and the Freshettes, resided at Colley Hall, where they were introduced to Dean Hall, Dr. Norris and Ernie Hillerich of the S.U.S. After this, they were given their hats and cards, and taken for a tour of the "Campus", to be shown the various buildings, offices and general places of interest. Also, beginning as of this date, the new students were read the riot act; they were to wear their caps and identification cards, light upperclassmen's cigarettes, doff hats to them, and shine their shoes with a rag that they were to carry around with them for these purposes.

Things started jumping on Wednesday, when a smoker was held in the Willingdon Room for the Freshmen and a Women's gathering in the Women's Common Room for the Freshettes, from 1.30 to 3.00 p.m., of which after there was a Tea Dance for the whole congregation. The next day was Sports Day. This constituted a golf and tennis tournament and a basketball game between the Frosh and the Upperclassmen. Friday came the Fun Parade. Here, "The Upperclassmen have the fun and the Freshmen are the parade". Budge Hall rocked with the embarrassing actions of the poor victims on the stage and the ridiculous trips the Frosh took out onto the streets. Things held off until next Tuesday, when the clubs held their rally for membership and a book exchange took place for the students to trade their books, in Budge Hall. Next day, Wednesday, was Silence Day for the Frosh. They could not utter a word or syllable. But evidently they got through it all right and had a chance to rest their weary vocal cords. Thursday, the Frosh went through the biggest part of their hazing, when they travelled to the various boys clubs around the town to help the Red Feather Campaign, by doing odd jobs about the clubs. After they had hammered nails and lifted boards, they returned to Sir George for the "Freshmen Supper" and waited to hear George Ratterman, who never came, to speak to them. The next day was the last day of the Freshman Week and it was the most important. The Trials were held in Budge Hall, that afternoon, where the Frosh underwent procedure to prove and to be admitted as acceptable students of Sir George. Dave Brown presided as the judge, Bernard Tonchin was the Crown Prosecutor, and Tommy Manastersky was the Defence Attorney. Various students were tried and some were found not-guilty and others were prosecuted to the highest degree. Eventually the court and it's spectators left the Hall and proceeded to march up Drummond, along Sherbrooke, down Stanley, along St. Catherine to Peel, and down to Dominion Square where the proceeding were continued in a rather boisterous manner. Finally they returned by way of Dorchester and up Drummond again to Sir George. That evening, the Freshmen Dance was held at the Palestre Nationale, where the Freshmen were de-capped by the Faculty, consisting of Dean Hall, Dr. Norris, Prof. Clarke, etc.

Thus Freshmen Week came to an end with the termination of this dance and the Frosh managed to live through it all.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

INCREDIBLE as it may seem, another graduating class is in the last half of its final year, and as I write these words, the machinery of the Registrar's office and of the class itself is beginning to turn a little more swiftly with reference to the date of May 30.

So, I welcome this opportunity of recording a farewell to a class which has served well its generation of College students, and now leaves the institution a little better than it found it, a little further along the way toward the goals which it had set before itself at the beginning.

Thanks to the efforts of the Class of '52, it is my privilege also to direct my present remarks to the student body as a whole, and to offer its members, day and evening, my most sincere greetings and good wishes as they look toward the vacation period.

To a student who has been in the College for only a year or two, viewing with the impatience of youth the problems which beset a young College like ours, it may seem that progress is painfully meager and slow. But students in the graduating classes may be able to look back over their undergraduate years and realize that advancement, however gradual, has been constant and considerable, and that not a few things which are now taken for granted did not exist when they were freshmen.

The goals of Sir George Williams College are not fixed and static goals. They grow as the College grows; they ripen as its students and staff mature in their concept of the College's mission; they evolve as the constantly developing educational needs of this great city bring new possibilities of service to light.

But, always, the basic ideas, which are Sir George Williams College, are held fast, to make change meaningful — the belief that everyone who is capable of a college education and wants it, should have the opportunity of working for it; that a truly liberal education can be, indeed must be, interwoven with the practical; that, in the long run, education has to do primarily with the growth of persons; and that college at its best could be a community, with perfect intimacy between its members and a shared faith in the validity of its goals.

It is in progress toward these ideals that the real future of Sir George Williams College lies, a future toward which staff and students alike may contribute. The not too distant years, we hope, may bring more extensive physical resources, more nearly adequate equipment and facilities, but it is my profound conviction that such things are only tools. They are to be prized much less than that which we have already, goals in which we believe and a determination to make the best use of what we have in working toward their achievement.

K. E. Norris.

BACCALAUREATE

Address by Henry F. Hall, Dean of the College, at the Baccalaureate Service of the class of 1952, May 25, 1952.

GRADUATION is a great event. You have, I believe, obtained through your own efforts and those of your instructors the foundation of a good education. Whether or not you build on that foundation now depends almost entirely upon yourselves. It is my considered opinion that the four, or so, years following graduation are just as important to one's education as are the four, or so, years preceding that event. May we guard, at all costs, against the idea that, having obtained a degree, a certificate, a piece of paper, we are thereby and for all time educated men and women. A degree is a symbol and it should represent a real education. Academically minded people are often very anxious that a degree should represent a high standard of scholarship. But what about the degree, the symbol, which, no matter how much it stood for once, now merely represents something that has passed away? It is a pitiful thing to contemplate a person who, cherishing an ancient parchment, believes that he is educated, when the real education (if it ever had any reality) has now disintegrated because the seeking for it has stopped.

I warn you that the reality of an education consists of the habits, the abilities, the character, of the individual. We are complex organisms and complex organisms change. It is just as possible to become uneducated as it is to become educated and it is a good deal easier.

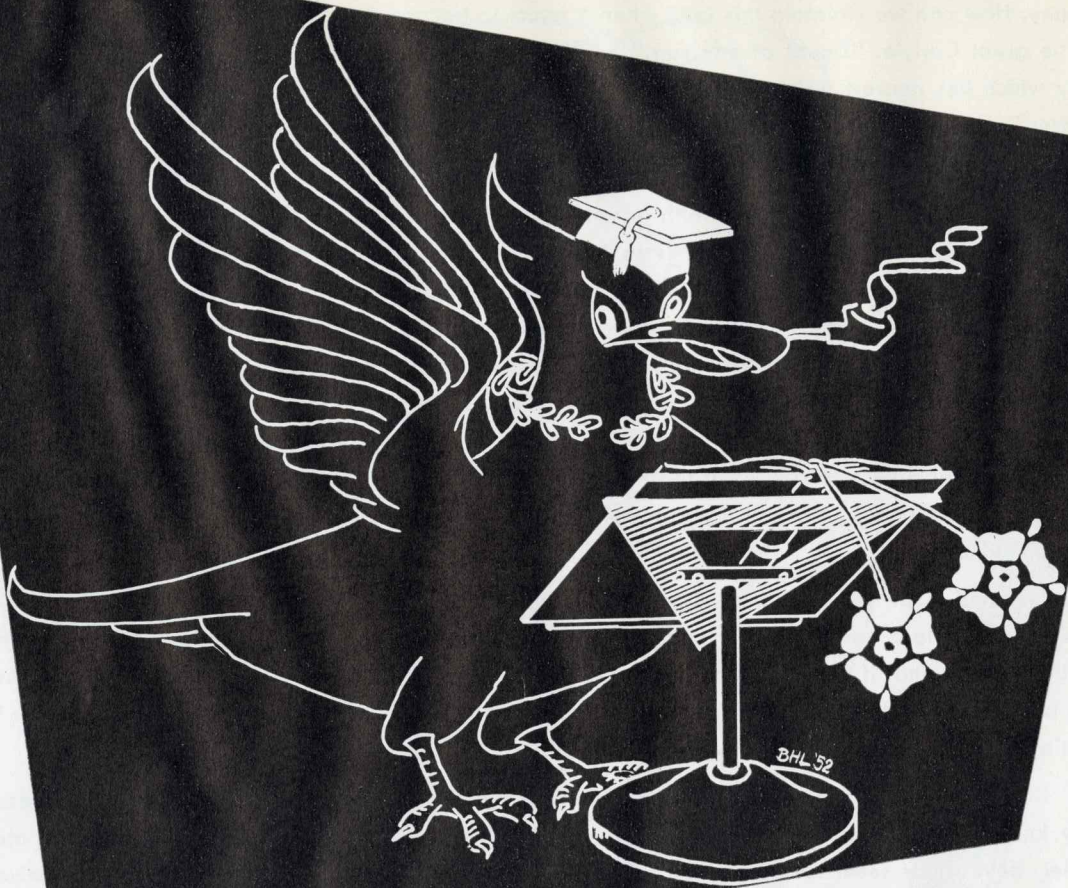

I have heard education described as the best investment as it is one which will not deteriorate. However, this is not true. Education is a good investment. Its value is beyond the price of material riches but it may, and often does, deteriorate. A college degree may depreciate as fast as do the stock certificates of a bankrupt company.

Therefore, my first word to those about to graduate is to express the sincere hope that they will maintain and advance that education which they have obtained. If you come to regard the humanities, literature and the social sciences merely as some things which you had to study in college, then I fear that you will soon cease to be educated people. On the other hand, the rewards are great for those who use their knowledge of, and interest in, these things as the beginning of a lifelong growth and development.

It is almost presumptuous, and at least platitudinous, for me to remind you that we live in stirring and critical days. One evening I spoke to a group of high school seniors. After the little address one student stood up and asked a question that brought us all up sharply. He said, "Some of us have been thinking and we would like to know whether you think that young people have any future at all." Yes, of course youth has a future. Youth always has a future. My greatest fear is not what will happen to youth physically and materially. Whatever happens, most of us somehow or other, shall manage to go on. My greatest fear for youth, to put it in a rather old fashioned way, is that youth will lose its faith. What do I mean by that?

In the first place I have some fear that young people will lose their faith in themselves. We may begin to wonder whether we are not storm-tossed atoms in the welter of a universal cataclysm. To put it another way, do we wonder whether there is anything in each one of us that has any significance or whether anything that we say or do individually really matters? May I sincerely say to you that you do matter. You must hang on firmly to an essential belief in yourselves. As with the universe, so with the human soul, the beginning of creation is light and that light is faith in its own purpose and its own destiny. How can we maintain this faith when it tends to become insecure and to slip away? Let us turn to the great Carlyle. "Doubt of any sort," he says, "cannot be removed except by action . . . Do the Duty which lies nearest which thou knowest to be a duty! Thy second duty will already have become clearer." Act as if your life, your contribution to mankind and your ideals have a place in the ordering of the future and they most assuredly will have that place.

As I would urge you to keep faith in yourselves, I would also say that we must keep our faith in mankind. How great a temptation it is to lose that! "There is no hope for civilization," says one. "Men are all fundamentally actuated by selfish motives," says another. "Mankind is incurably stupid, selfish and hopeless," say many more. How short-sighted! How small! The testimony of history and, I would go so far as to say, the testimony of science is quite otherwise. Mankind has an innate greatness that only the prophets among men can see. It is the greatest of all who say that we are the sons of God. To put it on its simplest level, you and I personally know too many good, upright and noble people to say that mankind is lost or even that he is fundamentally selfish. When we think of religious faith we are apt, perhaps, to think of it simply as faith in God; but Jesus and the prophets proclaimed faith in mankind as well.

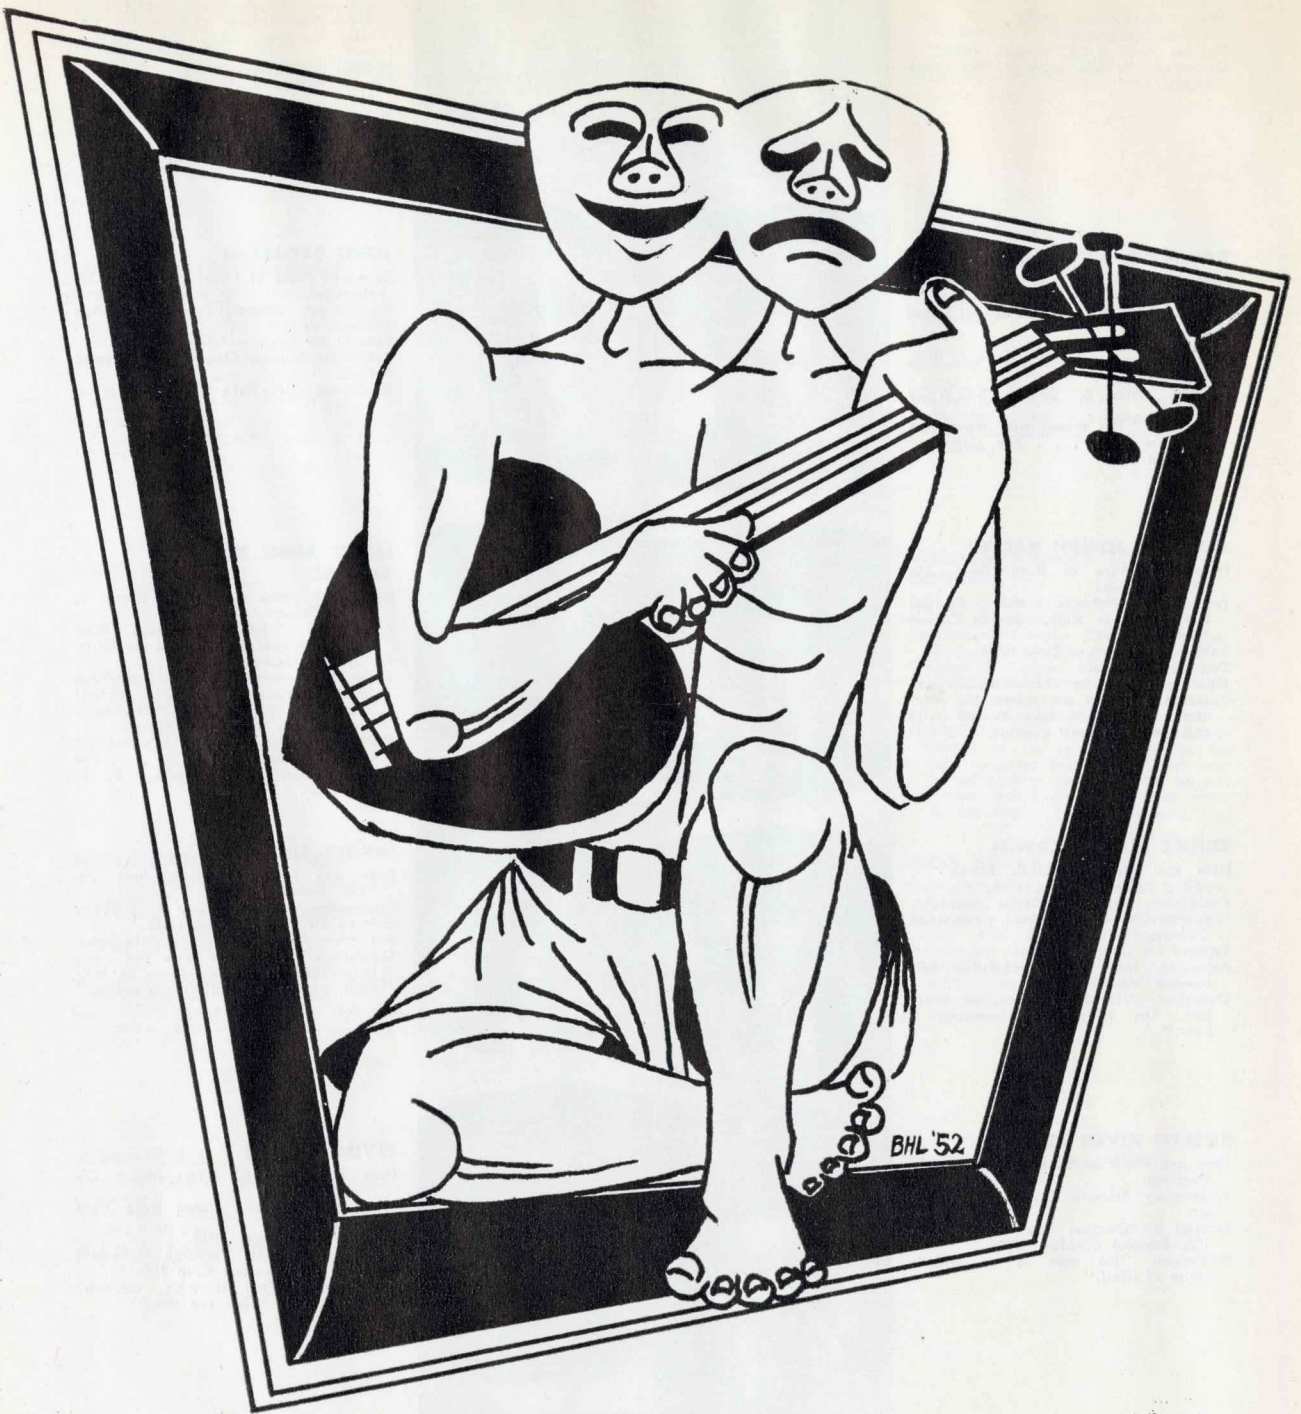

Mankind is on the march; some say to his own destruction. Those of us, however, who believe otherwise must lose no opportunity to proclaim our faith in the greatness, the dignity and the eventual destiny of mankind. If our education has made us look down on man as a poor unworthy being then it has been a poor education indeed. Let us to-day rededicate ourselves to the faith that man has a high destiny to fulfill; that the kingdom of God will come, "On earth as it is in heaven."

I must say that I am sometimes rather put out by the attitude of certain people, who, because they know something about hormones, or have discovered something about benzene-rings or atomic nuclei, believe, or seem to believe, that God no longer exists as an abiding reality in the universe. I like better the attitude of the truly great scientists such as Sir Isaac Newton, who talked about the great ocean of truth still undiscovered before him; or Charles Darwin who commented upon the grandeur of a divine creation or Johann Kepler who said, "O God, I think thy thoughts after thee."

To many, however, the loss of faith in God is not an intellectual process. It is an emotional rebellion against what they regard as the unfairness, the evil or lack of divine purpose in the world. This is especially true in these soul-shaking and terrific times. Let us remember that these days of trial are the testing time of faith, as well as of emotional stability and physical stamina. Do you remember John Bunyan's statement that we are apt to be most zealous about our faith "when it goes in Silver Slippers." "We love much to walk with him in the Street, if the Sun shines, and the people applaud him." However, he reminds us, "We must stand by him too, when bound in Irons."

Now may I say a personal word to you? I appreciate the invitation of the graduating class to speak to you and thank you for the honour implied therein. I know that many of you have developed the capacity for hard work and counsel you to maintain that capacity. Most of you also have the capacity for critical thinking. That too, you will do well to retain throughout life. Above all, however, may you hold fast to the three faiths which I have mentioned — faith in yourself and the best that is in you, faith in mankind and in his capacity for greatness, and faith in God and his divine purpose in the universe.

I am sure that I speak for the Chairman and Governors, the Principal and Faculty, as well as for myself, when I say that we shall watch your progress not only with interest but also with affection. In the words of the Psalmist we say, "We wish you good luck in the name of the Lord."

VALEDICTORY

Address given by PATRICK RUSSELL JUDGE

Mr. Chairman, Mr. Principal, Members of the Board and of the Faculty, Fellow Graduates and Guests:—

May 30, 1952 — the day of our Graduation — of one hope fulfilled but a day when we look back over our undergraduate years, as well as forward to new achievements; and, as we look back, particularly over the past year, we are reminded of certain events, quite outside our academic field, which we as graduates feel are of particular significance to us.

First of these is the passing of His Majesty, King George VI, and the accession to the throne of his daughter, Elizabeth. In the life of our late King we had a man, called upon to bear unexpected burdens, who rose above himself and gave us a magnificent example of devotion to duty and of service to his people. In our Queen we recognize a similar resolution to do her duty in that high office to which she has been called so early — a responsibility which she knew lay ahead of her and for which she prepared herself studiously, earnestly, and courageously.

In our Dominion of Canada we have seen the highest position in the land, that of Governor General, bestowed on a native son.

In our own College the deaths of Mr. J. W. Beaton, General Secretary of the Montreal Y.M.C.A., and Member of our Board of Governors, and of Prof. Maurice Smith, for fifteen years a Member of the Faculty brought tragically and forcibly before us all still further examples of devoted service and a high sense of public duty.

So, if there is one thing that we as graduates recognize above all others, it is the lesson that, if we are to play a worthy part in building up this our country and this our world, we must go on preparing ourselves to assume responsibility if and when it comes our way, unexpectedly perhaps, and be prepared, to do our duty wholeheartedly and courageously in whatever state of life it shall please God to call us.

But we recognize that we need even more than preparation and determination — we need hope. When the psalmist said, "I will hope continually" he had specific things in mind. So have we.

We are hopeful concerning the material side of life. This does not mean that we expect to escape our share of illness or mental suffering. There may be times of drought and famine, times of plagues and epidemics, times of wars and catastrophes, but within our hearts we shall preserve a steady hope. Every day and in every circumstance we can say: "The Lord is my Shepherd, I shall not want."

These are not empty and meaningless words. They express a great truth which has been tried and tested by many.

When George Gershwin composed his "Rhapsody in Blue", he wrote more than a musical composition, he wrote a whole philosophy of life.

Through the medium of music he gave expression to a philosophy which maintains that the rhapsody of happiness is unfailingly stronger than the bitterest misfortune which we may be called upon to bear. Such a philosophy of life leads us toward inevitable joy, and unconquerable spirit. In spite of whatever dreadful days may lie ahead for us individually, or for the world, such a philosophy makes it possible for us to live victoriously. It provides the power whereby our life can be a rhapsody of rich experiences even in a world of dismal blue.

We offer our sincere congratulations of the "night owls" who receive their degrees this evening. Their achievement is one that will not go unnoticed, and we hope not unrewarded — in fact in some cases it has already been rewarded. There was a time when the gates of higher education were closed to them, but Sir George Williams College has made it possible for those gates to be opened; and now, instead of a dark uncertain path, there lies ahead of all of them a beautiful garden, in which there grows confidence, inspiration and hope.

We, the Graduates of 1952, are grateful to our College for all that it has developed in us, and we hope that we may prove worthy of her and bring her the honour and renown in future years that is her due. To the Faculty and Board of Governors, we say, "thank you"; to those who follow us we say, "good luck". As we join the ranks of Georgian Graduates, we say with William Thackeray, "The play is done; the curtain drops; slow falling to the prompter's bell: a moment yet the actor stops and looks around to say farewell."

THE COMPARATIVE RELIGIONS GROUP

The Comparative Religions Group was formed in January, 1952, for those interested in studying contemporary religions and their contributions to our present-day society.

Meetings were held twice monthly, and prominent guest speakers were heard in talks on Judaism, the Ba'hai Faith, and Quakerism, Unitarianism, and other Christian faiths. The talks were followed by active discussions with consideration given to the religion's historical background, doctrines and outlook on contemporary social and religious problems.

The group also provided members with an opportunity to visit the places of worship of various faiths and meet their religious leaders.

At the head of this year's Group were Gene Morosan and Audrey Burns.

THE WOMEN'S CLUB

The main aim of the Women's Club is to further the enjoyment of the college by the minority of women, by making it possible for them to get to know one another. They start out the year by welcoming Freshettes, introducing them to upper classmen and getting them acquainted with the college in general.

Their next interest is the furtherment of social activities in the college through athletics and dances for which they are famous and include such things as the notorious Sadie Hawkin's Week.

The Women's Club is a sort of protection society — a club that provides activities for the small number of women in this college (I think the ratio is 7 to 1), who may otherwise be forgotten.

THE EVENING FACULTY WOMEN'S SOCIETY

The E.F.W.S. is an active organization directing, sponsoring, and encouraging social and cultural activities among the women in the Evening Division. Encouraged by the interest of the women students themselves in the activities of the Society, this year's executive planned many interesting programs including the annual Birthday Tea; the Christmas Carol Service; the general meetings, which were held on different nights of the week to enable as many evening women students as possible to attend; and the dances which were held regularly throughout the year.

The Society was fortunate in having four noted guest speakers this year — Mrs. Leah Sherman, who spoke on "Art in Daily Living"; Miss Constance Beresford-Howe, who discussed the problems of contemporary Canadian authors; Mr. Doug. McCord, who told of new colors and textures in fabrics; and Mrs. Paule Schuman, who talked about charm, poise, personality, and makeup.

This year the executive initiated three projects of importance — the mailing of newsletters regularly, the distributing of handbooks to women undergraduates, and the gathering of information regarding a Dean of Women for the College.

EVENING POLITICAL PROBLEMS CLUB

The rebirth of the Evening Division Political Problems Club was included among the many evidences of a new spirit in the Evening Division. The club was organized late the first term by Edward Napier, Robert Vogel, William Edmiston and Stuart Beattie. The first three members acted as rotating chairmen for the group.

The purpose of the club was to create an interest in political subjects among the members of the student body, as well as to allow students a chance to express their own political views in open discussion.

These purposes were carried out this year through the policy of having guest speakers and student forums, such as the one on Canadian American Relations, at which both the University of Montreal and McGill were represented, along with Sir George.

RIFLE CLUB

Four years after re-establishment the Rifle Club has again suffered near crippling growing pains, but the hump would seem to have been crossed.

Re-organization on an inter division basis has been the chief occupation this year. Because some Evening Students were interested in forming a Rifle Club, and because equipment is so expensive it was decided that a joint club with separate divisional executives would be the logical solution. The Evening Division contributed two spotting scopes to the common equipment pool and as the Day Division supplied two new rifles this year the Club has now, after four years, a minimum of the equipment necessary for a three place rifle range, i.e. three quality rifles and three sighting scopes.

Two teams were entered for the Inter-University Challenge Trophy 1952. Hopes are high for the success of the 1952-53 Club.

THE FRESHMAN CLUB

The Freshman Club was formed in 1949 by Dave Brown and several other students interested in the welfare of the first year students. Their main purpose in forming such an organization was to promote a better understanding between the freshman students and the upperclassmen. It was also to inform them of other college activities.

In former years the club has not lived up to the purpose for which it was formed as the students did not endeavour to form an executive.

This year, Al Bergel, 1st year rep., formed an executive which after much deliberation mapped out events for the year, namely, a pool tournament and a fashion show.

To close the year in power, the executive has drawn up a constitution which is planned to serve as an instrument of good government and a guide to the successful organization of this club, for future Freshman.

THE FILM SOCIETY

The S.G.W.C. Film Society, though a joint day-evening venture both in financing and participation, has, since its inception, received its leadership and impetus from the Evening Division. This year has been no exception, with Evening student Harold Rogers being the Society's active President.

In spite of modest equipment and absence of a suitable place to show its films, the Society has drawn the largest attendance of any student group in the College. The Society showed two films a month to an average of 70 people.

This year an attempt was made to show films that combined both aesthetic appeal with a sociological message. Such films included were The Bicycle Thief, Boundary Lines, 1848, Rien Que Les Heures, etc.

The Society is a member of the Canadian Film Institute, and is now active in aiding in the formation of a national federation of film societies, to promote their interest in furthering the film as an art form.

HILLEL

The B'nai B'rith Hillel Counsellorship, the Jewish student organization at Sir George Williams College, is part of the chain of Hillel Foundations and Counsellorships at over 200 American, Canadian and Israeli universities and colleges.

Hillel's function is to foster Jewish culture amongst the Jewish students, and goodwill amongst all people. Activities include celebrations of Religious Festivals, classes in Hebrew, History, Old Testament, Hebrew literature, Musicals, Art Exhibits, and group work, as well as social activities, and lecture forums at Hillel and on the campus.

The Hillel House, 3460 Stanley St. is open to all students, has many recreational facilities, and is the centre for Jewish activities on the campus. Hillel has a full time director, and is governed by an executive of five elected by the student body, and an Executive Council of committee chairmen who are appointed by the executive.

INTER-VARSITY CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

The Sir George Williams group of the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship, which was organized here in 1946, is one of many similar groups in Universities throughout the world. It accepts the Bible as the final authority and has a three-fold purpose: to deepen and strengthen the spiritual life of students through fellowship in daily prayer meetings, weekly Bible studies, and Hymn-Sings; to draw other students to find a personal faith and purpose in life in Jesus Christ as their Saviour and Lord; and to stress the need for world-wide missions. In this latter respect, two Georgians were delegates at the International Missionary Conference at the University of Illinois this Christmas, and a past president of the group is now a missionary in Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

A high point in the College year is the series of three Christmas Carol Services conducted by the I.V.C.F., which tries also to contact fellow students through monthly socials.

LATIN AMERICAN CLUB

The Latin American Club was innovated for the purpose of spreading Latin American culture to the students through a program of lectures, movies, dances and social gatherings.

Customs, historical facts and Latin culture, traced back to the earliest days, were presented to the club in a program that showed the various influences presently evident in our society.

The swaying rhythms of the south are now part of our social life and many of the students were interested in noting how these popular dances were once an intrinsic part of the culture, and how they played an important part in ancient ceremonial rites and dances.

The Latin American Club, in realizing its aims of culture diffusion has helped to bring those countries within clearer focus in the minds of people from afar.

LE CERCLE FRANÇAIS

This club has maintained during the past year its principle of spreading knowledge of the French language in the College, and has held numerous interesting and instructive meetings. In this manner, it has provided many entertaining hours for those who wish to acquire the French spirit, and to speak with ease this beautiful Canadian language.

The main activity was the Annual Sugar Party held in a French Canadian setting at Vaudreuil.

THE MUSIC SOCIETY

Among the new activities organized this year in the Evening Division, was the Music Society.

The Society was formed to provide students with an opportunity to hear fine music without personal cost, both by recordings and from guest artists.

The Society was fortunate to obtain very excellent high-fidelity record-playing equipment, for permanent installation in its meeting place, the comfortable Women's Common Room. With such facilities the Society has been enabled to provide a degree of excellence in record reproduction otherwise unavailable to the individual student.

Bi-weekly Record Concerts have not only included "classics" of the seventeen to nineteenth centuries, but attention was also given to modern serious music. In general, the Society was aimed at presenting music that would otherwise be unavailable to the discriminating listener. The Society also presented this year, the first of its guest artists in concert.

Members of this year's executive were:—Phyllis Loiselle, Francis DeMonterey, Bernard Flexer and Harold Rogers.

POLITICAL PROBLEMS CLUB

The aim of the Political Problems Club has always been the creation of an atmosphere of free discussion where students may present and discuss their political ideas. To this end the club opened its activities with the holding of an open forum where students were able to discuss their many conflicts resulting from the present international situation.

A new departure was offered in the Polyprobs activities by the holding of joint meeting with the Evening Polyprobs. The most successful endeavour was the Model United Nations Assembly.

It is sincerely hoped that the idea of free discussion and exchange of political thought will be continued in the future.

PRE-MED AND DENTAL SOCIETY

The Pre-Med and Dental society is composed of students who are seriously contemplating the study of medicine, dentistry, or associated fields. They have been in existence this year for the first time and show signs of having a much larger club next year.

The aims of the Society are for the members to gain an introductory knowledge of the professions, become acquainted with one another, and to gather and discuss mutual problems regarding medicine and dentistry.

THE SCIENTIFIC MANAGEMENT CLUB

The Commerce students at Sir George Williams College have realized that the importance of Scientific Management has become so great in the past few years, that they have founded such a club where the problems of management will be discussed and a possible solution reached.

It will be the purpose of this club to accumulate reading material, and allied information on Scientific Management, and also, invite prominent business-men to speak on the latest trends in this field, so that fellow members may keep abreast of current developments.

Under the guidance and perseverance of Oscar da Costa in renewing interest in such a group, with the able assistance of Charles Heft, and co-founders William Isa, William Hamel, Ronald Burns, and W. E. Theriault, the Scientific Management Club is the first one of this nature to be formed at Sir George Williams College, and it is hoped that the effort expended will bear encouraging results in the future.

STUDENT CHRISTIAN MOVEMENT

The Student Christian Movement is a Christian movement trying to discover what Christianity is; doing its best to find the relevance of Christ's teaching for the College and the world situation; providing an opportunity for corporate worship and research into the meaning of it.

The Student Christian Movement is a student movement; locally and democratically controlled, with national and world affiliations; interested primarily in problems of student life; promoting a sense of responsibility to the student movement in Canadian universities.

THE STUDENTS OPINION CLUB

The college saw the formation of a new club this year. The Students Opinion Club, whose purpose was to get the opinion of the students in the day college on currently interesting subjects using the statistical method.

The club conducted six surveys during the year on the following topics: "A Georgian's Date", "World Federation", "Student Exchange", "The Georgian", "The Tramway Service in Montreal" and "What Do You Know About Canada?" each of which contributed its share of interest and discussion among the students.

The club was founded and organized by Emile Kanim, Danny Max, and Gordon Mac-Willie under whose leadership the club operated efficiently. It was one of the most active clubs on the campus and acquired favourable criticism by a majority who looked forward to read the results of each survey.

The club is still young but growing rapidly and its members are looking forward to another year which we hope will be as successful as the previous one.

THE EVENING RENAISSANCE

This year has been an eventful one for the Evening Undergraduate Society. On the extra-curricular side, we have slowly pulled ourselves from the Slough of Apathy. For the first time in many years, Evening Students have stopped bewailing their fate, and have decided to do something concrete about it. As a result the Political Problems Group, the Comparative Religions Group, the Music Society and the Rifle Club were formed this year.

The Political Problems Group, apart from its regular program of inviting guest speakers to address its meetings, held an inter-University Forum. Student-speakers from McGill, the University of Montreal, and the Day and Evening Divisions of Sir George took part in a discussion of Canadian-American relations. Somewhat augmented, the Political Problems Group, fielded the largest and most vociferous group of delegates at the Model United Nations this year. The great activity of this group was due mainly to the efforts of Bill Edmiston and Bob Vogel.

The Music Appreciation Circle with its new high-fidelity amplifier held many meetings this year. Francis De Monterey, Phyllis Loiselle, and Bernie Flexer provided a full, if at times controversial, program.

The Comparative Religions Group under the direction of Gene Morosan and Audrey Burns arranged a fine series of talks by guest speakers of various faiths.

The newly formed Rifle Club under Joe Long, Herb Weber, and Walter Kolanitch are extremely keen on competing in next year's Provincial competition. They hope to continue firing through the summer months.

In completing this survey of the year's activities, I would like to mention the complete issue of "The Georgian" which the Evening Division produced under the direction of the Evening Editor, Steuart Beattie. Also the Film Group which was so capably handled by Harold Rogers. This group provided a film program which ranks among the best in the City. Finally the Evening Faculty Women's Society in common with the other groups leaped back into prominence under its new president, Audrey Cole.

At this time, I would like to express my thanks to the members of the E.U.S. executive for their untiring efforts, which made this year a memorable one. Their patience at our long meetings was almost unbelievable, and it was only through their complete and unselfish co-operation that we achieved what we did this year. My thanks also go out to the many students whose names cannot be recorded here, who cranked the handles and moved the chairs. I feel that a statement of this nature would be incomplete without my placing on record my appreciation of the efforts of Harold Rogers. There is no doubt in my mind that Harold has made the outstanding contribution to the activities of the E.U.S.

Our plans for the future are to consolidate what we have achieved, to expand where possible, and to create new groups both in the athletic and cultural fields. Especially do we want to create ties with other universities, and to join with other groups within this city who share our interests.

THIS YEAR WITH THE S.U.S.

This Year's Student Undergraduate Society, under the capable leadership of Ernie Hillerich, carried out their activities as in any other year. Their accomplishments so far as achievements are concerned, were not outstanding, but at the same time they were instrumental in making this college year a success. Among these, the most dominant were: suggestions for amendments to the constitution, the Scholarship Fund Drive which brought in a record total of $3000.00, and the inauguration of the Students Opinion Club, the Scientific Management Club, and the Pre-Med and Pre-Dental Society.

The Students Opinion Club ran weekly meetings and made surveys of various types, which included the opinions and general knowledge of the average students on controversial and general interest topics. These results were printed in the "Georgian" and made itself predominantly known throughout the college. The Scientific Management Club was started very late in the year. The Pre-Med and Pre-Dental Society educated the students towards Medicine and Dentistry, by bringing in various speakers and showing several movies. This society was made up of students that are interested and plan to enter in, the fields of Medicine and Dentistry.

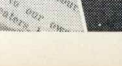

Through the efforts of the ambitious members of the S.U.S., the Red Feather Campaign was a success, because of their individual and energetic assistance.

The Winter Carnival was given great attention and was building up to a great feature of the school year, when the King died. This halted the proceedings and it was cancelled.

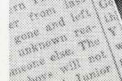

The social activities of Sir George were considered the best for many years and is generally understood by the students that Bob Pallen, the Chairman of the Social Committee, did from a better than average job to a terrific one is his position.

All in all, the S.U.S. did an upstanding job. They have been subject to a bit of criticism, but these people never attended the meetings and contented themselves with giving lots of bark and not using any of their bite . . . Irresponsible people that you will always find, anywhere, that are always giving their own biased opinion but not doing anything to correct the faults or even trying for that matter.

JUNIOR GEORGETTES

drops a few pearls of wisdom. He must be telling a Butler "special" story otherwise why would Jack Silver be looking so serious. The other characters are Goodman, Parrot and Luger.

MEN'S FENCING TEAM

WATER POLO

Under the coaching of versatile Sam Kogan our Water Polo Team had a very successful season. The water babies should climb to great heights next year.

THE INTERMEDIATE GEORGIANS

Co-champs for the second year in a row. Shattered all scoring records this year. Coached by Mag Flynn — captained by Don Goldberg. High scorer of the team and the league, Gerry Brown, fourth from the left. Set a new one game record of 34 points against Bishops. WELL DONE MEN!

THE GOLF TEAM

Sans Keith Wray. Don Richardson, College champ, Bob Marsh and George Savoy. "19th Hole is our specialty".

EVENING ATHLETICS

Glen Woods (far right) the old master conducts a badminton class. He seems to be talking directly to the redhead in the front row. Nice conversation if you caught it.

GIRLS' FENCING TEAM

JUNIOR GEORGIANS

Here they are — the team with the biggest heart in the College — "THE JUNIOR GEORGIANS" coached by Bob Butler, captained by Tony Lugar. You'll hear more from these fellows next year. That big red headed monster in the back is Tom Parrott who led the team in scoring.

COACH AT WORK

Mag gives out a little know how. He's got lots of it. That's Ron Edwards who is enjoying himself so much.

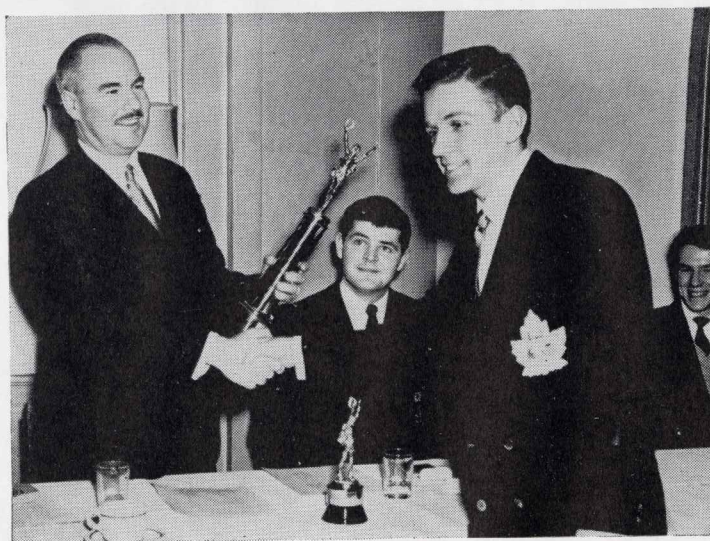

ATHLETIC CHIEFS

Director of Athletics, Joe Rolland, flanked by his two assistants Dick Thompson and Bob Butler. Congratulations on a job well done. May it be as good in future years. "Thanks Joe, Dick, Bob".

ATHLETE OF THE YEAR

Don Goldberg adds the final touch of class to a brilliant four year athletic career. His name now ranks with other Georgian immortals as he steps front and center to receive the Gill Trophy for 1951-52 from Doctor Norris, principal.

out of this crucible ... a stronger Canada

Challenging problems of production face Canada today. Prudence and the needs of progress demand that Canada must be strong tomorrow. And so much depends on steel!

That is why Stelco is investing $50,000,000 in a night-and-day expansion program . . . designed to give Canada still more steel in the months and years to come.

The program is in action now that will pour annually a 650,000-ton river of additional new steel to sweep Canadian industry ahead to even higher production goals.

All this future-minded work is going ahead without interruption of Stelco's current steel output, which is at an all-time record "high" . . . and growing fast . . . to make a stronger Canada.
